Hedgehog

Sniffs or “squeak”

Can be quite noisy as they snuffle around to find food.

Will squeak in fear or pain

Grey Squirrel

"mehr mehr mehr", "kuk" or "quaa"

Calls are used to warn other squirrels about predators and to ward off other squirrel competition.

Squirrels also make an affectionate "coo-purring" sound.

Badger

“growl”, “grunt” “snort”

Badgers snort and grunt as they forage around for food to communicate with others in their group.

A “chitter” is a call of fear or pain with a growl warning others in their group.

“Churr” is a mating call.

Pine Marten

“squeak”, “squeal”, “grunt”

Pine martens are usually silent.

During mating season they yowl, growl and chatter

They squeak and squeal to communicate warning, fear and territory.
